NATRE Meetings with the DfE

NATRE representatives continue to meet frequently with the DfE. Recent agenda items have included discussing complaints about RE, non-compliance with the law on RE and the necessity of support for RE from government. NATRE were pleased to work with the DfE to jointly provide subject knowledge enhancement courses for secondary trainee teachers, and are currently meeting with the DfE approximately once a month on behalf of RE teachers.

NASACRE hears from DfE about school compliance on RE

Neil Lawson from the Curriculum Unit of the Department for Education has written to NASACRE Chair, Paul Smalley, setting out the expectations of the government with regards to school compliance in RE, covering:

- The requirement to teach RE (including what is expected from academies and free schools)
- Advice about the application of the agreed syllabus, and whether qualifications can be stipulated as part of that
- How to handle reports of a school not meeting its duty to teach RE

It is extremely useful to have these aspects set out in writing, and we hope that this will help SACREs to be proactive in challenging schools of all types to provide the very best RE. The letter can be found here:

The RE All Party Parliamentary Group

At the January meeting of the APPG for RE, NATRE Primary Vice-Chair Katie Freeman was one of four serving teachers of RE who spoke about excellent RE. Katie received her invite from her MP Luke Pollard. Katie spoke about the RE that goes on in her school and the importance of this to all her pupils to an audience including numerous parliamentarians and guest from different branches of the RE community.

How can Wolverhampton SACRE encourage teachers to Is your MP a member of the RE APPG? Write and ask them if they would like to visit your school and see excellent RE in action.

Better RE in 1000 primary schools: can SACRE nominate schools for this RE-improvement project?

Are there Primary schools in Wolverhampton who rarely engage with SACRE or with RE events? The 'Primary RE 1000' project from NATRE is designed to reach these schools with support for better RE.

NATRE has received funding for an amazing RE development project called Primary RE 1000. The aim of the project is to benefit 'hard to reach' schools so that they are more engaged with RE. We have a list of project activities that will help Primary schools to improve their RE, wherever they are currently.

The project has been designed to challenge, support and inspire Primary schools where they need to change and improve the RE opportunities they give to pupils.

The schools accepted to join the project will receive:

- A digital starter pack to kick start better RE in their schools
- Over 1000 free-to-use classroom resources
- Links with a local group of RE teachers to share best practice
- NATRE membership at a discounted price (£55 for two years, instead of £150!)
- Opportunities to attend high quality training at a discounted rate
- And much more

Can SACRE send school names, email contacts and subject leader contacts for schools who may benefit from this support? NATRE will then invite eligible schools to join the project. The invitation may come from NATRE via SACRE, or directly from SACRE. If SACRE gives NATRE its recommendations, NATRE will check which schools qualify for Primary RE 1000 and get back to SACRE with a personal invite we can send to them. NATRE is very eager to work in partnership with SACRE.

Jewish Museum: Teachers' Seminar Days

At the Jewish Museum, we care about teachers feeling ready, supported and inspired when teaching their students about Judaism and Jewish History. We have run successful teachers' events around topics such as 'Teaching Judaism for the First Time', 'Holocaust Memorial Day' and 'Making the Most From our Online Resources' and we continue to support teachers with curriculum changes. All workshops are hands-on, encourage questions and provide teachers with an opportunity to share good practice and make the most from a visit to the museum. We are holding two Teachers' Seminars this Year:
