Please state the ground(s) for review (please read guidance note 1)

The local weights and measures authority has "responsible authority" status under the Licensing Act 2003 by virtue of the Licensing Act 2003 (Premises Licences and Club Premises Certificates) Regulations 2005.

On 24th January 2020, information was received alleging that single cans of alcohol were being sold from Premier Convenience Store, also known as Threshers Wine Shop and Tettenhall Supermarket.

On 15th December 2020, during a Challenge 25 survey, a young-looking 22 year old adult attempted to purchase alcohol from Threshers Wine Shop to establish if staff at the premises made a point of checking identification when customers are buying age-restricted products such as alcohol. On this occasion, the volunteer was not asked their age, to lower the mask they were wearing, or to show identification. They were able to purchase a single can of high strength alcohol, namely Dragon Stout (7.5% ABV).

On 1st February 2021, an officer from the Trading Standards Service wrote a letter for the attention of the premises licence holder and designated premises supervisor at Premier Convenience Store, advising of the outcome of the Challenge 25 survey and providing comprehensive advice on how to comply with the laws governing the sale of age-restricted products. A redacted copy is attached.

On 2nd November 2021, a single can of Stella beer (4.6% ABV), was sold to a 16 year old authorised volunteer on behalf of City of Wolverhampton Council. It is a criminal offence under section 146(1) of the Licensing Act 2003 to sell alcohol to a person under the age of 18. No attempt was made to ask her age, to ask for identification, or to ask the volunteer to lower her face mask in order to study facial features.

It is a mandatory condition under The Licensing Act 2003 that a business operates an Age Verification Policy.

This volunteer was refused age-restricted products at four other shops that evening.

The sale was made by a shop assistant. Officers from Trading Standards and West Midlands Police went into the shop after the sale to discuss what had happened with the sales assistant.

It was also noted that:

- i. There was no Premises Licence available to inspect, contrary to Section 57(7) of the Licensing Act 2003.
- ii. There was no refusals book available to inspect

A trader's notice was left.

Amandip Singh Ajimal, believed to be a sole trader trading as Threshers Wine Shop (also known as Premier Convenience Store and Tetterhall Supermarket), has engaged in activities which have breached the licensing objectives namely 'the prevention of crime and disorder' and 'the protection of children from harm'.

Please provide as much information as possible to support the application
(please read guidance note 2)

The Home Office publishes guidance under section 182 of the Licensing Act 2003 Act, with the following paragraphs being particularly relevant:

2.22 The protection of children from harm includes the protection of children from moral, psychological, and physical harm. This includes not only protecting children from the harms associated directly with alcohol consumption but also wider harms such as exposure to strong language and sexual expletives.

2.23 The Government believes that it is completely unacceptable to sell alcohol to children.

11.27 There is certain criminal activity that may arise in connection with licensed premises which should be treated particularly seriously. This includes the use of the licensed premises for the illegal purchase and consumption of alcohol by minors which impacts on the health educational attainment, employment prospects and propensity for crime of young people.

FAO: Premises Licence Holder and,
Designated Premises Supervisor
Premiere Convenience Store

Dear Sirs,

Challenge 25 and Underage Sales Survey 2020

Following complaints, Wolverhampton's Trading Standards Service recently conducted a Challenge 25 Compliance check on your premises using a youthful looking 22-year-old licensing officer. The aim of the survey was to check if traders asked for and inspected presented identification. The test purchaser was carrying a photo driving licence bearing her photograph and date of birth. She wore a face mask because of the rules surrounding the Covid 19 Pandemic.

At around 13: 00 hours on the 15 December 2020, the officer purchased a single bottle of 7.5% ABV Dragon Stout for £1.79. At no time was she asked for her age, for identification or to lower her mask. The officer had been asked for identification at other shops visited that day.

It is essential that you keep within the law and have systems in place that will act as a 'due diligence' defence to an allegation that an underage sale of alcohol or tobacco products has taken place. If you do sell alcoholic or tobacco products to an individual who is under 18 you could be prosecuted and fined.

An overview of preventing the sale of alcohol to children.

The Licensing Act 2003 sets out a series of objectives which a licensing authority is required to promote. These are:

- prevention of crime and disorder
- public safety
- prevention of public nuisance
- protection of children from harm

The 'protection of children from harm' includes preventing the sale and supply of alcohol to children. The law sets out the framework that aims to achieve this objective.

The premises licence holder, the designated premises supervisor (who must be a personal licence holder), any other personal licence holders and staff within on-licensed and off-licensed premises should all be aware of their obligations under the Licensing Act 2003 relating to the prevention of sales of alcohol to children.

It is the premises licence holder and designated premises supervisor's responsibility to keep within the law and to have systems in place that will act as a 'due diligence' defence to an allegation that a sale of alcohol has taken place to an individual under the minimum legal age.

If you sell alcohol to an individual who is under 18 you could be prosecuted and receive a fine of up to £5,000. A personal licence to sell alcohol could be at risk. The premises licence can be reviewed which could lead to it being suspended or revoked. Where persistent sales of alcohol to underage individuals take place, the premises licence holder could receive a fine of up to £20,000 or a premises closure notice could be issued.

Licensing Act 2003

The Licensing Act 2003 sets out the offences, defences and penalties that relate to under age sales of alcohol.

SALE OF ALCOHOL TO CHILDREN - A person commits an offence if they sell alcohol to an individual under 18. A person charged with an offence has a defence available that they believed the individual was 18 or over, and they had either taken all reasonable steps to find out the individual's age or that no one could reasonably suspect from their appearance that they were under 18. 'Reasonable steps' includes asking the individual for evidence of their age, and that the evidence obtained would convince a reasonable person.

Where a person is charged with an offence due to the conduct of someone else - a member of staff for instance - they have the defence that they exercised all due diligence to avoid committing it. A person found guilty of an offence could receive a fine of up to £5,000.

ALLOWING THE SALE OF ALCOHOL TO CHILDREN - A person who works at premises in a capacity that authorises them to prevent the sale of alcohol to an individual under 18 commits an offence if they knowingly allow the sale of alcohol to take place. A person found guilty of an offence could receive a fine of up to £5,000.

PERSISTENTLY SELLING ALCOHOL TO CHILDREN - It is an offence for a 'responsible person' (the premises licence holder) to unlawfully sell alcohol to an individual under 18 at the same premises on two or more different occasions within a period of three consecutive months.

An 'unlawful sale' is defined as where the person making the sale believed the individual was under 18 or that the person did not have reasonable grounds for believing the individual was 18 or over. 'Reasonable grounds' means asking the individual for evidence of their age and that this evidence when provided would convince a reasonable person, or that no one would reasonably suspect from the individual's appearance that they were under 18. A person found guilty of an offence can be given a fine of up to £20,000. The enforcing body can use as evidence previous convictions, cautions and fixed penalties relating to sales of alcohol to individuals under 18.

An enforcing body can apply for a closure notice, which prohibits the sale of alcohol at the premises, as an alternative to prosecution, and the duration of this notice can range from 48 to 336 hours. Where a premises licence holder is convicted of an offence of persistently selling alcohol to children, the court may suspend the licence authorising the sale of alcohol at that premises for a period of up to three months. In addition, the licensing authority can review the licence and has the power to suspend or revoke the licence. Other licensable activities and non-licensable activities are not affected by this suspension order.

An overview of preventing the sale of tobacco products to children.

The laws that apply are the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, the Children and Young Persons (Protection from Tobacco) Act 1991.

Under this legislation it is an offence for any person to sell cigarettes, tobacco products (including shisha) or cigarette papers to anyone under the age of 18 years. The penalty on conviction is a fine of up to £2,500. If this requirement is breached, the member of staff who made the sale and the owner of the business can be held responsible.

You must only sell cigarettes in quantities of at least twenty and in their original packaging. It is an offence to split a pack and to sell in lesser quantities. The penalty on conviction is a fine of up to £1,000.

You must display a notice that states:

The notice must be displayed in a prominent position readily visible at the point of sale of the tobacco at every retail premises that sells tobacco. The notice must be no less than 297mm x 420mm (A3, or twice the size of this page) and the characters must be no less than 36mm in height.

Display of Tobacco Products

Under the Tobacco Advertising and Promotion (Display) (England) Regulations 2010, you are required to cover your display of tobacco products. It is an offence to display tobacco products unless a specific request to purchase tobacco has been made to you by a person over the age of 18. It is NOT an offence to display tobacco-related accessories such as cigarette papers. There are also strict requirements relating to the manner in which tobacco products are price-marked. Only three types of tobacco price display are permitted: -

- a) Poster style lists (up to A3 in size), which can be permanently on show. The law sets out that these must not exceed 1,250 square centimetres; A3 sized paper falls within the legal-size limit.

b) A list including pictures of products, which must not be left on permanent show, but which can be shown to any customer aged 18 or over who asks for information about tobacco products sold.

c) Price labels, which can be placed on shelving, storage units or tobacco jars. One price label is permitted for each product either on the covered shelf where the product is stored or on the front of the storage unit.

All types of price list or label must use black Helvetica plain font, in the same size throughout the text. All letters must be in lower case, except for first letters of words where appropriate. No underlining, italics, bold type or any other distinguishing emphasis is allowed. The background must be white. No other colours for either the wording or the background are allowed. The only information that can be given about tobacco products is:

- the brand name of the product
- the price of the product
- if pre-packed, the number of units in the packet, or if sold by weight, the net weight of the product
- for cigars only, the country of origin and dimensions (for example, length and ring gauge)
- for pipe tobaccos only, the cut and type of tobacco used

Detailed guidance can be found at <http://tinyurl.com/zkvmhds> or use QR Code.

If you employ children in your business, it is not illegal for them to sell tobacco products, provided of course that the customer is not under 18. However, leaving unsupervised children selling tobacco is not recommended as they may find it difficult to refuse to sell to their own age group

Cigarette lighter refills

Under the Cigarette Lighter Refill (Safety) Regulations 1999 it is an offence to supply any cigarette lighter refill canisters containing butane to anyone under the age of 18. This is because of the potential for abuse by 'sniffing' the gas, which can be extremely dangerous.

Persistent sales of tobacco to persons under 18

The Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 is the law that deals with incidences of persistent sales of tobacco to persons under 18. If at least two offences of selling tobacco to a person under 18 have occurred within a period of two years, trading standards can make an application to a Magistrates' Court for a restricted premises order and/or a restricted sale order. A restricted premises order prohibits the sale, from a specified retail premises, of tobacco products to anyone for a period of up to one year. A restricted sale order prohibits a specified person from selling tobacco products to anyone and from having a management function. Even where the due diligence defence is not available, it is recommended that the guidelines below be followed as best practice.

Keeping within the law

You must ensure that you and your staff take all necessary steps to avoid committing an offence. To actively demonstrate this, you should have a 'due diligence' system in place. Even where the due diligence defence is not available, it is recommended that the guidelines below be followed as best practice.

CHECK THE AGE OF YOUR STAFF MEMBERS (alcohol) -The premises licence holder, designated premises supervisor, or other responsible person over the age of 18, commits an offence if they allow an individual under 18 to sell or supply alcohol unless the sale has been specifically approved and the person is supervised.

KEEP A RECORD OF TRAINING - It is advised that the legislation is brought to the attention of all staff via regular training. It is important that you can prove that your staff members understand what is required of them under the legislation. This can be done by keeping a record of the training and asking the member of staff to sign to say that they have understood it. These records should then be checked and signed on a regular basis by management or the owner. Members of staff should be advised that they themselves might be personally liable if they sell to young persons in breach of the legal requirements.

AGE VERIFICATION POLICY AND SYSTEM - You should have an age verification policy in place. Always ask young people to produce proof of their age. Trading standards services and the government support the national Proof of Age Standards Scheme (PASS). You can be confident that a card issued under the scheme and bearing the PASS hologram is an acceptable proof of age. There are a number of card issuers in the scheme, the website www.pass-scheme.org.uk has more information. Card issuers may supply material for you to display in your shop, telling young people where they can obtain a card. This way, if you have cause to refuse a sale, you can give youngsters some positive information. Photo driving licences and passports are also acceptable as proof of age.

If there is still doubt, the sale should not be allowed to take place. As a teenager's appearance does not always correspond with their actual age, it is advised that staff challenge anyone who appears to be, under 25 if buying products that can only be sold to those aged 18 or over, such as alcohol. Training/testing on appropriate ID and displaying examples of these is also recommended.

HAVE A REFUSAL BOOK - All refusals should be recorded on a refusal sales sheet or a refusal book. Some tills have a refusals system built in. Maintaining a refusal log will strengthen a case for due diligence. Logs should be checked by the licensee to ensure that all members of staff are using them. A refusal log should contain, as a minimum, the following information: -

Date	Product	Time	Name of Person or Description	Observations	Staff Member
Example: 04/05/09	4 cans of lager	7:10 pm	Male 14 years? Blonde, 5ft 11"	Nervous and refusing to show ID	Allan Smith

Logs should be periodically checked by the licensee/retailer to ensure that all members of staff are using them. If you possess an electronic point of sale till system, it may be possible to use it to remind staff via a prompt.

POSTERS SHOWING AGE LIMITS SHOULD BE DISPLAYED – these should contain a statement regarding the refusal of such sales. This may deter potential purchasers and act as a reminder to members of staff. Please download at <http://www.challenge25.org/downloads.html> if you do not have one.

Your premises may be subject to a test purchase by a young person under the age of 18 in the future.

This guidance is taken from information issued by the Chartered Trading Standards Institute and should be shared with all members of staff, managers, owners and proprietors.

Yours faithfully,
